Dear Mr. Yau:

In reply to the telephone inquiry this morning, I greatly regret having to tell you that there will be a further delay in the processing of payment of your bill for the bronze hu and jade pi. As you know, payment is made through the Disbursing Office of the Smithsonian Institution, which is at present installing a new method of processing bills, including a machine for running off the card-type of check. Unfortunately, this change-over is taking a little longer than was anticipated, but it is hoped that it will be in operation by the first of next month, and you should receive your check very shortly thereafter.

Very truly yours,

(Miss) H. Elise Buckman,
Secretary to the Director.
